

Bellarine Peninsula plane crash: Friends pay tribute to four victims

January 30, 2016 8:30pm

Andrew Jefferson, Anthony Galloway, David Hurley and Brianna Travers Herald Sun

Investigations continue into Vic plane crash

TRIBUTES have been paid to the four people who died when the light plane they were in crashed into the sea on the Bellarine Peninsula.

Danny Flinn, Don Hateley, Ian Chamberlain and his unnamed partner were on-board the plane that plunged into the ocean off Barwon Heads on Friday.

All victims were believed to be members of the Royal Victorian Aero Club at Moorabbin Airport, from where the doomed flight took off.

The three men and woman were killed when the Piper light aircraft crashed at 12.30pm, about 2km off Collendina Beach.

Police have recovered three of the bodies from the sea and the search for the fourth body and wreckage will resume this morning.

Extracted from:

<http://www.heraldsun.com.au/news/victoria/bellarine-peninsula-plane-crash-friends-pay-tribute-to-four-victims/news-story/8fb480d86fa4bb11c4cf4c45333ae06a>

On 31/01/16 at 10:30:29

Daniel Flinn, 55 of Mordialloc, and 68-year-old Donald Hateley, from Noble Park flying with Dianne Bradley and Ian Chamberlain, both in their 60s and from Black Rock

Read more: <http://www.theage.com.au/victoria/search-for-fourth-plane-crash-victim-resumes-at-barwon-heads-20160129-gmhkaq.html#ixzz3ymJo1E00>