

Plane crashes on Ballarat airport runway before it takes off

There was drama at the Ballarat airport last night when the front wheel collapsed off a plane as it prepared for take off.

The plane ran into trouble before it even left the runway just after 9pm.

Nobody was trapped or injured in the incident, but it triggered an emergency response as rescue crews attended the scene.

Police and CFA were both in attendance.

The grounded plane had to be towed from the tarmac.

The Civil Aviation Safety Authority is expected to investigate the incident.
