A light plane has dramatically crashed into the backyard of a Sunshine Coast home, wedging itself between trees and a fence.

The aircraft came down in the suburban property at Palmwoods, west of Forest Glen, before 10am today.

9News understands the family who owns the home was inside the property at the time of the crash and heard a “big bang”, before they came outside to find the aircraft.

Miraculously, nobody on the ground suffered injuries, despite there being lots of houses in the crash area.

The pilot of the plane managed to get himself out of the cockpit of the aircraft and has been praised for his efforts in avoiding all the surrounding homes.

He has since been taken to the Sunshine Coast University Hospital in a stable condition.

There are early reports that the aircraft may have lost power prior to crash landing in the back yard.
