

Subject: AC News Flash Issue 27.
Date: Wed, 31 Oct 2001 21:29:53 +1000

Hello and welcome to another Issue of the AirCentre News Flash where selected aviation history is recorded for all persons who are interested in and enjoy the ownership or flying of light aircraft.

This Issue has been released to coincide with Week One issue of November 2001 AirCentre News Digest now placed on the www.

Also included in this News Flash is the recording of a change in AirCentre operations at Archerfield.

This change has absolutely nothing to do with an aircraft or flying but it's still worthy of note: The AirCentre News Desk is about to depart Archerfield after 20 plus years airport-bound carrying out a sterling job and weathering many a storm during a period of tumultuous change.

Due to the recent lack of funding and support for the AirCentre Office and News Desk, which has been located on the ground floor of the main terminal building in recent years, the Desk will depart shortly, set course and take up a heading for a virtual office located within the www medium.

The am Thursday 'Coffee'n Chat' for those pilots remembering the 'good old days' and for all other interested pilots and aviators is expected to remain as normal in the main terminal building (lounge).

This News Flash and Digest is also expected to retain its current format well into the foreseeable future.

Now for the other interesting news from around Archerfield: -

Reports from operators on the airfield have business "a little quite at the moment", ..no doubt due to the savage blow all aviation based businesses received after September 11, a date that is now recorded as having a significant impact on the way we live on this world.

For new AC Flash members, and old, welcome again and enjoy your flying and reading, ..but not both at the same time!
