Hello and Welcome to another News Flash from the AirCentre News Desk at Archerfield in Queensland

WARNING

This News Flash is intended for those persons who have a pilot licence or have held a pilot's licence, light aircraft owners or past owners of aircraft and others who have a genuine interest in the well-being and betterment of light aircraft and general aviation industry here in Australia.

If you DO NOT meet any of the above please delete this message NOW. Failure to do so may offend as some of the content strongly supports light aircraft and aviation in general and may inadvertently offend those not qualified in aviation aspects.

This "September 11" News Flash is issued to welcome the new members who have joined us since the last issue and advise the 'old' members that they still remain on the AirCentre mailing list

And to remember that fateful day one year ago that changed the world and the way we think

For regular readers of these messages a small note; the lack of contact over the past few months was due to the short supply of worthwhile news from Archerfield and the excessive number of e-mail viruses that are circulating around the 'net at the moment

I assume you have had similar e-mails; feel assured details of the AirCentre files are kept well away from mainstream 'net transactions. The system I have here makes it impossible for outsiders to access the AirCentre News address book. As well, these News Flash Issues are sent to you as a plain text message with no attachments, and that's the way it has been at all times

The idiots sending virus e-mails must get pleasure out of trying to damage systems, why I'll never know, but they must enjoy it, otherwise why do they do it?

It also must be time consuming for someone; my records indicate at least one person, possibility two, constantly send virus type messages (changing the subject/person each time) to my mailbox. All of these person(s) with their faulty e-mails and the like have not had one bit of luck in trying to damage my equipment, even after many months of trying.

There has also been occasions when my e-mail address has been used to respond to a survey or similar 'message' by persons too weak of mind to use their own address

I guess we really should feel sorry for those living amongst us who must be less fortunate (?) than ourselves. My pleasures are obtained from creating, not destroying, and I guess it's the same for you Now lets get back into this creating mode (the News Flash for example), rather than physiologist stuff On a more interesting note, and a rather bright one at that (you will have to see it to understand the comment), Archerfield's DC4 has been undergoing an inspection and maintenance program, which is turning out to be a major rejuvenation project; completion is anticipated before the end of the year all going well

Reports form around Archerfield suggest that a number of operators are feeling the 'pinch'; one well known flying school has 'downsized' recently and a few of the other schools/operators remaining on the airfield make mention of 'things are a bit quite'

But not everyone is glum, one operator is talking about expanding their operations; the word is that it may be 'borderline' (you are supposed to think here about an airport near a border not all that far from Archerfield, and not as in a marginal operation!), however both of these thoughts may be turn out to be correct, time will tell

Don't forget, if you missed something in the news media on aviation in the past week or two then try the News Digest via the AirCentre News Desk link, it lists popular news articles about aviation (focusing on light aircraft) from around the world, and updated weekly

Week Two now published with a feature on September 11, via a CBS News link

AirCentre News, now into it's 7 year, growing bigger and brighter with each Issue
