Date: Tue, 30 Nov 1999 20:14:07 +1000

Hello and Welcome to another issue of the AirCentre New Flash from the Archerfield News Desk where aviation history is recorded for all those persons who fly-in, pilot or enjoy the ownership of light aircraft.

December marks the beginning of the end of the Y2K saga.

The main thrust of this news letter is to notify all readers that the News page has just been updated with Week One of the December 1999 Issue where mention is made of the drama surrounding the Y2K compliance.

Check out the difference between the original CASA Y2K Compliance web page, saved by the news desk, and the current web page.

It's changing daily!

Also, while the opportunity exists, the news desk would like to welcome several new readers to these pages, all of which will (or perhaps should) receive this news flash.

The word "should" is mentioned only because of a malfunction that occurred towards the end of last month and a few new applications were lost when "he who should know better" fiddled with the wrong disk resulting in loss of new data, the "old" backup files were used to restore the mail list, but a few new applicants still remain missing.

Mention is made on the news page to have those who registered in late November to reapply if they do not receive this News Flash.

Please feel free to send your comments or suggestions to the news desk or if you happen to be a "local", call into the Archerfield office at the times nominated in the scrolling bit via the AirCentre "What's New" link.

Don
