Hello and Welcome to another Issue of the AirCentre News Flash from the Archerfield News Desk where aviation history is recorded for all those persons who fly-in, pilot or enjoy the ownership of light aircraft.

In News Flash Issue 8 released last week, mention was made of the Mobil Avgas contamination that appeared to be almost over.

This Issue is released to keep you up-dated on the latest developments on what is now a costly and continuing saga for most of the light aircraft owners and operators here in OZ.

Oil company giant Mobil seems to be making all the right noises and doing all the right things offering compensation for lost revenue and reimbursing the cost of rectifying affected aircraft.

CASA on the other hand, seem to be growing confused with each passing day and now appear to be procrastinating on how to solve the problem.

Their latest statements suggest that there now appears to be THREE fuel contaminants to deal with!

Check out the various news stories and articles in Week Four of the AirCentre News released with this Issue of the AirCentre News Flash.

After about 15 years of trying, CASA had almost achieved their dogma, the only alien, Shell by default, foiled the completeness of it all!

Happy Flying

Don
